DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 112

1. The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

2. Claims 1-15 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

In claim 1, “having a substantially solid, non-open body area size substantially matching... bezel.” is not fully understood in the context of the claims. What exactly is meant by “a substantially solid, non-open body”? Also, it is unclear exactly how each “area size” is intended to be measured, and exactly how they match each other.

In claim 9, it is unclear how the separators are made of both a heat conduction and a heat retarding material. This seems to be contradictory.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

3. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

4. Claims 1-9, 11, and 13-15, as best understood, are rejected under 35

U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Powers, Jr., US Patent 3,827,596. Powers provides a knob assembly for use with hot cooking utensils, comprising a hand graspable metallic knob 3; a metallic bezel 5 for the knob; a first separator 4 located between the knob and the bezel; and a second separator 6 between the bezel and cooking utensil 7 to which the knob assembly is to be attached. The separators inherently have a minimum amount of heat insulating properties, thus are considered of heat resisting material. The first and second separators are disks. The first disk includes a ledge on which the knob rests without contacting either the bezel or the cooking utensil. An area of the second separator is broadly considered to match an area of the bezel. The bezel defines a well dimensioned to fittingly receive the first disk. A screw assembly for interlocking the knob, the bezel and the first and second separators. The first and second separators have circular peripheral shapes.

5. Claims 10 and 12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Powers.

Regarding claim 10, although the specific material is not explicitly disclosed in the combination, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to have modified the device in such a way, since it has been held to be within the general skill of a worker in the art to select a known material on the basis of its suitability for the intended use as a matter of obvious design choice. In re Leshin, 125 USPQ 416. See also Ballas Liquidating Co. v. Allied industries of Kansas, Inc. (DC Kans) 205 USPQ 331. Such a modification is not critical to the design and would have produced no unexpected results.

Regarding claim 12, it would have been an obvious matter of design choice to make the different portions of the device of whatever form or shape or color that was desired or expedient. A change in form or shape or color is generally recognized as being within the level of ordinary skill in the art, absent any showing of unexpected results. In re Dailey et al., 149 USPQ 47. Such a modification is not critical to the design and would have produced no unexpected results.
